FARM BUREAU NEWS

ADD TO FARM BUREAU

The headquarters of Oxford County Farm Bureau has just been changed from the county building to an office in the new Odd Fellows' building. The change was made necessary by the lengthening of the period of occupation of the court house office by the grand jury. The business men of South Paris showed their appreciation of Farm Bureau work by offering to pay $200 toward the yearly cost of renting the new office, making it necessary for the Bureau to pay only $200.

PROMINENT HARTFORD MAN PASSES AWAY

James Irish passed away at his home in Hartford, Saturday morning at the age of 93 years. He was born in Hartford, a son of Edmund Jr. and Nancy Ricker Irish to whom five children were born, the only remaining being Deacutur Irish, of South Hartford. He married Miss Sylvia Morrill of Turner who passed away in 1893. Four years later he married Mrs. Laura Fogg, who survives him. For many years Mr. Irish kept a general store at Hartford Centre and was postmaster there for over thirty years. For some time he ran a grist mill, also a shingle and board mill. In 1886 he was elected representative to the Legislature and 1876 to the State Senate. He was largely responsible for the building of the old P. & O. rail road. Mr. Irish was a Universalist in faith and in politics a republican. He had lived in Hartford all his life with the exception of a few years spent in Randolph, Mass., and Turner when he was a young man. In his death, Hartford loses a most valued citizen, one who was progressive, energetic and who took an interest in his town and its people.

MRS. D. S. HASTINGS

Mrs. D. S. Hastings passed away Friday night, Sept. 29, at her home on Broad street. The funeral was held at the Universalist church, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

A more extended account will be given next week.

COMPENSATION AWARDED FORMER BETHEL WOMAN

The Industrial Accident Commission has rendered a decision in favor of Mrs. Mary E. House of South Paris for compensation money to be paid on account of the death of her husband, Charles O. House, who died last May, as the result of an accident when he was in the employ of the Merrill, Springer Co., at Bethel, on April 13, 1922. The hearing was held at Bethel Sept. 14, 1923, the petitioner, Mrs. House, being represented by Alton C. Wheeler, Esq., of South Paris, and the Merrill, Springer Co., defending through the Federal Mutual Liability Insurance Co. which carried the insurance, was represented by Frederick W. Hinckley, Esq., of Portland.

The decree says:

"The question to be determined in this case is, therefore, whether or not, based upon the facts as they appear from the evidence the petitioner was 'living apart' from her husband for a justifiable cause—at the time of the accident. We think she was."

It is found that on the date of the accident to Mr. House which resulted in his death, the petitioner, Mrs. Mary E. House, was living apart from her husband for a justifiable cause and that, therefore, she is conclusively presumed to have been wholly dependent upon Charles O. House at the time of the injury and therefore entitled to compensation.

The formal portion of the decree is as follows:

"It is therefore ordered and decreed, that the Merrill, Springer Co., or its Insurance Carrier, the Federal Mutual Liability Insurance Co. pay to Mary E. House, dependent widow of Charles O. House, deceased employee of the Merrill, Springer Co., compensation in the sum of $13.58 per week, commencing April 20, 1922, and continuing for a period not to exceed 300 weeks from the date of the injury, subject however to the limitations provided in Section 12 of the Workmen's Compensation Act."

Angusta, Maine, Sept. 20, 1923

ARTHUR L. THAYER,
Chairman, Industrial Accident Commission.

The amount figures $4,047.00; but the statute limits her to $4,000, so she got the full amount.

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING

The regular meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association will be held at the Grammar school building on Monday evening, Oct. 6, at 8 o'clock.

This is the annual meeting for election of officers and other important business. An informal reception for the teachers will follow the usual program and refreshments will be served.

A discussion of the object and aims of this Association and an outline of the year's proposed work with plans to secure funds, will be general.

An urgent appeal is made to all parents and friends to be present that this Association may be made a community affair.

Don't forget, next Monday evening, and this invitation means YOU.

OXFORD COUNTY BOY SCOUTS MAKE GOOD RECORD THIS YEAR

Scout Camp Site at Locke's Mills, Gift of L. C. Bates, an Ideal Place for Camp Life. Enthusiasm Ran High. Outline of Year's Accomplishments

At the present time there are sixteen troops and 360 Boy Scouts in good standing. We boast the Oxford County Council with pride, for it stands second with other first class councils in Maine.

The officers of the organization are: President of the Council, Geo. R. Morton, South Paris; vice-presidents, P. E. McCarthy, Rumford, W. J. Upson, Bethel; secretary, Leo Smith, Norway; treasurer, H. C. Rowe, Bethel; com., Arthur Stowell, Locke's Mills; executive, Harold C. Perham, West Paris.

The organization last November was practically defunct, having only two semi-active troops in this territory with one official scoutmaster. In the meantime, under Mr. Perfam's earnest labors the county council has received new impetus, for whereas only two troops were efficient in any way, while others appeared lukewarm, or dead, there now is activity everywhere with prominent leaders in business, in lodges and religious denominations, solidly behind the movement in their respective communities.

County headquarters is at West Paris. "Service" is the watchword, and other strong point is keeping faith with the boys in small matters.

HAVE REGULAR BUDGET All funds raised were received by two sources: Individual subscriptions and advisory board quotas. The quotas were apportioned according to "natural budget value of the various towns. The individual subscription quota formed part of the budget, yet entirely separate from the Advisory Board quotas.

ADVANCEMENT Mexico Advisory Board took the lead by passing in the first local quota. Mexico had two troops of live Scouts, backed by a local organization, second to none and so was ready to take the lead. The budget referred to was decided by the committee to be a $300 budget for the year. Expenditures were as follows:

1. Executives Salaries.
2. Executives Expenses.
3. Supplies for Troops.
4. Deficit on Camping.
5. Scoutmaster Training.
6. Leadership Training for Boys.
7. Advertising.
8. National Quotas.
9. Telephone.
10. Postage.

WHAAT IS SCOUTING? The biggest thing in Scouting is "Do a Good Turn Daily." Scouting deals with regular boy and brings home the principles of square living through what he does. The word "Do" is the essence of Scouting and "Don't" takes the discard. Scouting takes into consideration the fact that every boy prefers a clean time to a dirty time any day, and opens up channels whereby he can attain it. Scouting aims to develop a code of square living in every boy. "On the Square" is a fitting motto for every Scout (old or young), for it is he is judged from youth till old age. A boy joining the Boy Scouts of America has "everything to gain and nothing to lose," recognized the world over as the best proposition on the market.

AN IDEAL LOCATION The camp is located on the former Capt. Jones farm, a 120 acre tract owned by L. C. Bates of West Paris, and set apart for Scouting. Situated on the road leading past Dudley cottage and a few rods from the main highway to the White Mountains, it proves convenient to Scouts and visitors. Headquarters are in a comfortable farmhouse, where all executive business is transacted by directors of the several departments into which the camp organization is divided. The boys' dining room is there and a kitchen with two experienced male cooks to prepare chow in quantity to satisfy a bunch of hungry youngsters exercising in the open air.

SEVENTEEN TENTS PITCHED Each Scout absorbed 1 1/2 quarts of milk and 3 square meals a day. Sweets were given sparingly.

Sleeping and recreation quarters were in the open field on a height of land only a short distance from the main building. The soil is light and dry, affording perfect drainage on the eastern slope toward the lake. Fourteen tents were pitched in a long row facing the rising sun, with a dense pine and hardwood growth in the rear for protection against high westerly winds which might level the canvas town. In the center and in front of the tents was built the roaring council fire where the boys and their leaders gathered at twilight for story telling and instruction in Scouting.

DIVINE SERVICE An attendance at divine service was a rule. The Protestant boys hiked in

WORLD'S FAIR BIG SUCCESS

'The World's Fair at North Waterford closed Saturday night after successful two days. It was estimated that about 5,000 people were in attendance on Saturday, the largest crowd ever to attend this annual event. There were more fakirs than usual this year.

This fair is rather an unique institution, the organization having no grounds for an exhibition, the show being held in the village streets. No admission is charged. The funds for the fakirs who make it a point to be on hand every season.

The officers of the organization this year were:

President—R. M. McKeen

Vice-President—Charles Leonard

Secretary—J. W. Nason

Treasurer—Bert Flint

A fine baked bean dinner was served by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Congregational church in the vestry, Saturday, about 500 being served.

Waterford Grange served oyster stews in their hall under the direction of the lady officers.

Dancing was enjoyed in the afternoon and evening in both the Grange Hall and Odd Fellows' Hall.

The midway contained a variety of entertainment. Besides games of various sorts there were side-shows and a merry go-round. Truman, the wrestler of Norway, was there and gave some clever exhibitions of wrestling. Two especially interesting matches were between Truman and Ernest McAllister of East Stoneham. Mr. McAllister was a mountain of strength and Truman was unable to make him bow to the mat in either match.

Saturday the Twin Town band furnished excellent music.

The fancy articles and farm products displayed in the exhibit hall were of good quality and were highly commented upon by those who were keen observers of this display.

One of the most interesting shows on the midway was the one given by Baby Thelma. Well, the eight-year-old wonder girl, who could tell you most anything you wanted to know. Large audiences greeted her at every show and enjoyed the wonderful ability of this young child. She is the youngest psychic in this country. She could tell your age, the year, month and day you were born. She could tell the color of your eyes, clothing, hair and anything about you and name any article pointed to with her eyes hidden behind a handkerchief.

PINEKNY P. BURNHAM

Word was received Monday of the death of Pinekny P. Burnham of Brooklyn, N. Y., on Sept. 30th. He was a former Bethel man, leaving Bethel when about twenty years old to work in New York City.

He was the son of the late Pinekny and Betsy (Austin) Burnham.

He married Minnie DeGrave who died six years ago. Two daughters were born to them, one of whom survives.

Besides his daughter he leaves three sisters, Mrs. Lydia Barker and Miss Alberta Burnham, both of Bethel, and Miss Matilda Burnham of Pasadena, Calif.

Interment was at Englewood, N. J.

GRANGE NEWS

PLEASANT VALLEY GRANGE

Pleasant Valley Grange held its regular meeting on Tuesday evening, Sept. 26th, with 27 members and 2 visitors present. The Fair committee's report was submitted and accepted showing a good balance. It was voted to hold the annual election of officers at the first meeting in November. A discussion of the method of conducting the Grange Fair in the future took place, but was laid on the table until the next meeting.

The literary program was as follows:

Song, Helen Howard.

Reading, F. I. Bean.

Remarks, Bertha Mundt.

Reading, E. C. Smith.

Song, Ethel Grover.

OXFORD POMONA

Oxford Pomona met with Mountain Grange, Buckfield, Tuesday, Oct. 3. The subordinate Granges reported as follows: Paris 4, West Paris 1, Hebron 2, Norway 8, Bethel 3, Franklin 7, West Bethel 2, Bear River 5, West Paris 10, Pleasant Pond 14, New Century 3, Mountain 30. The committee reported two candidates in waiting. The Pomona degree was conferred on both. A recess was called for dinner and about 160 were served with a bountiful repast. At 1:30 the meeting was again called to order and placed in the hands of the Lecturer, who gave the following program:

Singing, Star Spangled Banner, Grange Address of Welcome,

Master of Mountain Grange Response, Leon Brooks

ALL KINDS OF SPORTS

Games and athletic sports were carried on at a fixed hour on the field a few steps below the camp-ground. Swimming, boating and fishing had their place on the daily programs under the supervision of Director Carleton Andrews of Lewiston, Dudley Lake, otherwise North Pond, in the valley, is the beautiful sheet of water where their sports are enjoyed. A plunge after the setting up exercises before breakfast started the day right, with an hour's swimming period in midafternoon. Older boys qualified as "regular fishes" assisted the director in watching the less experienced.

CAMP SANITATION AND MEDICAL INSPECTION

Camp sanitation was directed by Leslie Ferguson of Rumford, second year "nurse" at Bowdoin. He assisted Camp Director Harold C. Perham and is second in command. Medical inspection twice each week was conducted by Dr. I. H. Wight of Bethel and Dr. Holden P. Willard of Bryant's Pond. The first symptom of illness was immediately investigated, and proper treatment furnished. A large stock of first aid material was kept at headquarters and the boys instructed in its use.

DIRECTORS OF CAMP

Officers of the camp were: Camp director, Harold C. Perham, West Paris; assistant camp director, Leslie Ferguson, Rumford; athletic director, Ronald Perham, West Paris; swimming director, Carleton Andrews, Lewiston; clerk, Harry Packard, Bryant's Pond; cook, Charles Leonard, Andover; assistant cook, Ira Bodwell, Andover.

BOYS HELPED WITH WORK

Camp life is not all play, for the boys are under semi-military regulations framed to give the fellows a "corking" good time and a square deal. Policing the grounds and kitchen people were duties made attractive by awarding points of merit for their performance. It was rather difficult to Lake made it possible for the boys to find a boy volunteering to peel potato, shell beans and peas or fill the daily plunge, many thanks to Guy Bou-tor's bills were only $4.00. Not even one swimming or bathing scare was experienced.

NO SCOUTS DISMISSED FROM CAMP

No Scouts were dismissed from camp. Not one case of dismissal for smoking is on file, nor a case of dismissal for entering the water outside of regular swimming periods. Only 8 out of 160 Scouts left camp before time was up. These left, half from homesickness and half from general dissatisfaction.

THE TRAINING CAMP

Forty Took Advance Degrees.

Ninety per cent of credits were given for "Progress in Scouting" and "Personal Conduct." Every fellow entering camp made substantial advance in Scouting.

The Oxford County Scout Camp is the official training camp for Scouts in this County. Scouting and training boys for leadership is the big thing and every move is toward a practical application of this idea. The Scouts who have advanced to certain degree in their work and show natural fitness are given charge of various phases of work under supervision of the directors. If these Scouts prove their fitness they are given entire charge of their job. Train the Scout by letting him teach others is the most successful way to make future Scoutmasters. (The biggest problem in Scouting.)

DONATIONS

Thirty army cots and 100 mattresses, donated by P. E. McCarthy of Rumford, were much appreciated and thankfully received.

George R. Morton gave the O. C. S. Camp the free use of a Ford truck during Camp season and then extended the offer for the rest of the year.

Many other small donations were made, such as lamps, dishes, etc., as well as a U. S. flag presented by Chester Howe, Scoutmaster, Bethel.

NEW WRINKLES IN SWIMMING

Every boy wore a red cap until he could swim 50 yards. To gain a green cap a Scout had to swim 150 yards breast and side, swim 50 yards on back and swim 40 feet under water. Swimmers wearing green caps were called life guards. A red cap denotes a beginner.

A new wharf on the shore of Dudley Lake made it possible for the boys to find a boy volunteering to peel potato, escape swallowing through mud to the toes, shell beans and peas or fill the daily plunge, many thanks to Guy Bouwould box at home. In camp the Scouts stormed the kitchen for the job and Charles Leonard, commissary director was often forced finding places for antiseptic applications. Deliberate violation of camp regulations brings rewards not altogether agreeable, but no physical hardships are imposed to promote the necessary discipline.

Scouts who broke the rules of the camp were not allowed to work in the kitchen or dining room. A waiting list for the whole session was had in this. Work noted as a credit for each night.

Rougher work around camp was always ready for the rule breakers. In fact the discipline for this work was so keen most of it had to be done by scouts detailed for that purpose.

NO SMOKING ALLOWED

No smoking was allowed. The anti-smoke was dismissed from camp as first officer. This rule applied to both directors and boys and no case of smoking was reported during the session. This rule was voted at a council meeting of all men who met to May at the Oxford County Scout Camp.

NO SERIOUS ACCIDENTS

There was no serious accident during the season of four weeks and the doc-in the line of baseball. The players on the Scout team were from all parts of Oxford County, and certainly showed "all round" baseball by holding this strong local team to a tie. Hutchinson and Bodwell were the battery for the Scout team in the first game, and the Perham brothers starred in the field. The battery for the second game was Big League Emigh, Rumford Falls and Bodwell while Packard and Perham starred in the field. The Locke's Mill team used their regular battery, Clifford and Swan.

BIG FIELD DAY GREAT SUCCESS

The "Big Field Day," August 17, proved to be great success. A large crowd witnessed a complete day of Scouting on schedule time. Athletics were the attraction in the forenoon. Mess at noon. An address was given by George R. Morton, president of the Scout Council, and an address by R. N. Berry, New England Scout Executive. There was an exhibition of first aid, Scouting, an excellent exhibition of water work, the feature being the 100 ft. underwater swim, made by H. Wardell of West Paris, and F. Keyo of Mexico, with S. Ring of Bryant's Pond in second place of 90 feet.

RAYMOND BUKER—SCOUTMASTER

Raymond Baker, champion two-miler in United States colleges, was in camp for a week in charge of Troop No. 1, Oxford, Me.

The Scouts went on a White Mountain trip up Mt. Washington, Cascade Falls, Tuckerman's Ravine, etc. Returned home by train. Great trip.

GENERAL ITEMS

Oxford County claims the most successful season of the Scout camps of

MT. WASHINGTON HIKERS

This hike was one of the big events of the season and was open only to Scouts with a creditable yearly record. Approximately 30 Scouts went. Many favorable comments have been received from Gorham, N. H., in regard to the personal conduct and good discipline of the Mt. Washington group. One New Hampshire party made the statement that the O. C. S. Camp Scouts were the best disciplined bunch of Scouts that had landed in Gorham during the season.

AMERICAN LEGION FIELD DAY

American Legion Field Day at Bryant's Pond, J. McCarthy and Tom Maynard of Rumford starred in the athletics. The Boy Scouts were the special attraction of the day and their part of the program went off snappy. The American Legion throughout the United States backs up the Boy Scouts of America. Oxford County Scouts will always be at the service and will cooperate with the American Legion.

600 DIFFERENT VISITORS

The Oxford County Scout Camp was undoubtedly popular. Over 300 visitors were in Camp on the last Sunday of Camp. Picnic parties were in vogue and certainly made Sunday a busy day for all.

Visitors from 12 different States signed the O. C. S. Camp register.

Mt. Mica

Troop 1, Norway, numbering 10 Scouts, turned out for full hiking regalia after school hours for Mt. Mica. Scout Executive, Perham accompanied them.

They bunked over night in a small building near the mine. It was small, but sufficient for the needs of all.

Cooking was accomplished over stove and fireplace. The evening program was mostly sports, running, jumping, shot-put, weight lifting. It was a typical "first night out" occasion and was enjoyed by all. A drizzling morning changed the plans of the troop and all headed for home.

Overset Pond

Troop 1, West Paris, went on their last hike preliminary to the Oxford County Scout Camp, to Overset Camp.

A heavy shower drenched them the first lap of the trip.

The program during the day was mostly fishing, mountain climbing, swimming and Scout craft.

In the evening there were indoor games and story telling.

Shagg Pond

Bryant's Pond Boy Scouts Camping Trip

The Bryant's Pond Scouts claim that they encountered but one setback in their trip to Shagg Pond. They said that they lost so much water "sweat" up over Billings Hill that when they went in swimming, Shagg Pond dropped an even foot.

At 7 o'clock Friday morning twelve Scouts accompanied by Scout Masters Fred Cummings and Harold Gilmore, "hit the trail" for Shagg Pond. The morning was a trifle dull but not the boys. Eleven miles on foot carried them to Alton C. Wheeler's Red Camp where they stopped till their return trip. Filling-up, swimming and athletics took care of the larger part of the time. The Scouts went for a good time and certainly had one for everyone groaned at the thoughts of leaving until the very last possible second.

The evening program was largely wrestling matches and oats and many a creaking elbow and knee lost its external covering before winners could be picked. Bare floors and bare boys tell many a sad tale but always live to tell it. Everyone got a fair night's sleep, each boy being "wafted to sleep" on the shores of his comrade.

This hike was declared by all to be the best ever but too short. The Bryant's Pond troop contains 18 boys and Stanley Perham, his brother, were in charge.

Memorial Day

On Memorial Day Troop No. 1 of West Paris was featured in the Memorial parade, by heading the line of march, with 27 Scouts and Scoutmasters, who marched to the cemetery where the Scouts decorated the graves of the veterans in usual form. When returning by Main street they faced the flag and in full salute gave the pledge of allegiance to the flag. At midday the troop went over to the swimming hole for recreation and sport. In the evening 18 of the troop built a council fire on a point overlooking the town and camped under the stars over night.

Thompson Pond

Scout Field Day

Norway Boy Scouts accompanied by Scout Executive Perham started early for Thompson's Pond, Oxford. Rain fell and they got aboard an empty truck that happened along and remained on Haynes' barn a mile and a half from Oxford village. This proved an ideal spot with a brook on one side, a sand stretch on the other and "unlucky thirteen" between them. Athletics and swimming occupied the larger part of the time. The program included: Pole vault, high jumps, sprints, swimming races, special trapeze performances and baseball. The new game of Indoor Pom-Pom originated here, and immediately became popular. Joe Labassie became expert in the game. This trip will be remembered on the Lucky Star Hike to Thompson's Pond.

Gibson's Grove

South Paris Boy Scouts hiked to Gibson's Grove, Norway, May 29th. There were 14 Scouts in full uniform, accompanied by Scout Executive Harold C. Perham. They covered the distance entirely on foot, going, but claim they traveled back on "empty stomachs." This was one of the best hikes of the

Mrs. Barnes hired a new butler: "We always call our servants by their last name, what is yours?"

"May I suggest, madame, that you call me by my first name, Thomas," said the new butler.

"No," said Mrs. Barnes. "I shall call you by your last name, as it is our custom; what is it?"

"Very well, madame, but if your husband finds fault, don't blame me, my name is Thomas Darling."

CANTON

A pretty wedding occurred at the home of Mrs. Mary E. Reed, Monday evening at 8 o'clock, when her daughter, Miss Eva Myrtle Reed was united in marriage to Fernley Stewart Bubier of Auburn. The officiating clergyman was Rev. F. M. Lamb and the double ring service was used. The couple stood under an arch of evergreen and flowers, with the wedding bell in the center. The attendants were Miss Pearl Blanchard and George Reed. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Oscar Adkins of Auburn, a sister of the bridegroom. The bride was becomingly gowned in white crepe de chine with satin, imported lace and pearl trimmings and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. Her travelling suit was brown velvet with hat to match. The bridesmaid's gown was white silk, satin trimming with lace and pearl garniture and she carried pinks. The house was prettily decorated with autumn leaves, evergreen and cut flowers. A reception was held at 8:30, those in the receiving line with the bride and groom being Mrs. Mary Reed, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Bubier, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Adkins, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Etheridge, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Rich. When the wedding cake was cut Miss Winnifred Rose found the ring, Oscar Adkins the coin, Fernley Bubier the thimble and B. F. Rich the button. Those attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Bubier of Lisbon Falls, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Etheridge and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Adkins of Norridgewock, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Rich of Norfolk Downs, Mass., Mrs. W. S. Rose and Mr. and Mrs. Summit, Miss Evelyn Stewart of Auburn and Jas. Reed of Livermore Falls. The bride is the daughter of the late Charles F. Reed and Mary Stewart Reed of Canton. She was educated in the Canton schools and Bliss Business College. The bridegroom is the son of C. F. Bubier and the late Edith S. Bubier. He was born in Litchfield and was educated at the E. L. H. S. of Auburn. He is now an employee of the Dingley & Foss Shoe Company of Auburn. The young couple were the recipients of gifts which included cut glass, silver, money, electric conveniences, etc. They left by auto for a wedding trip to Boston and Rhode Island.

Another wedding the same day was that of Miss Ida Bryant of Hartford and Elwood Dunn of Turner, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Bryant. Rev. F. B. Bates of Auburn officiated, the double ring service being used. The marriage ceremony was performed on the porch, which was attractively decorated with flowers and evergreens. The bride was gowned in pure white, with veil and wreath of sweet peas. Miss Juliet Bryant and Edmon Bryant were attendants. The ceremony was attended by many relatives and friends. A bountiful wedding dinner was served, thirty being seated. Those from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dunn of Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Knightly of Paris, Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield Holman of Oxford, Rev. F. N. Johnson and Rev. Ivan Banks of Bridgton, Mrs. Bernice Libby, Mrs. Blanche Libby, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Banks and Mrs. L. W. Haskell of Auburn. The couple will make their home on the Edmon Bryant farm, recently purchased by Mr. Dunn and E. F. Bryant. They were the recipients of nice gifts. After the ceremony, "Blest be the Tie that Binds" was sung and pictures taken of the bridal couple and of the whole group.

BETHEL METHODIST CHURCH SCHOOL BOARD PICKS ANSWERS TO SPECIAL CARDS

So many very excellent and appropriate answers were sent in to the question: "Why is this rooster crowing?" that it has taken much time and study on the part of the School Board to choose the best from nearly fifty answers.

Bethel Methodist Church School
A. C. Adams, Super.

Why is this Rooster Crowing?

These answers were finally decided upon:

This rooster is crowing.
It's his way of showing
The world he's a rooster,
Three cheers for said rooster.

So come get in line
With banners unfurled,
Let's give this Church School
A place in the world.

Perry C. Lapham.

Why does this bantam rooster crow so early without warning?
The sun is up and thus he tries to tell us it is morning.

Why does this Church School rooster crow and crow and keep on crowing?

There's a work to do and we should awake and precious seed be sowing.

What does our bantam rooster say?
'Tis time to be up and doing.

The hens are awake at break of day
And the roosters to the staff are towning.

What does this Church School rooster say?

Star colors we should be showing.

There are hearts to win, there are souls to save.

And we should be faster growing.

John C. Anderson.

This rooster is proudly calling attention

To our fine High School which we seldom mention.

Let's heed his clear call—each one be a booster!

And not leave it all to the poor crowing rooster.

Minnie L. Wilson.

Don't point your gun, in fun, or otherwise at anyone with the idea that it isn't loaded. It might be.

STARS ON MEMORIAL TREES

Living Monuments to 308 of Missouri's Hero Dead Line the Famous King's Highway.

Living memorials, sheltering those who come their way, always serving, 208 pleasant shade trees along King's highway in St. Louis stand as a monument to 308 Missouri lads who gave their lives during the World war.

In Memory of Hero, Dead.

Each tree bears a gold star. A hero's name, the name of the unit and branch of service to which he was attached are engraved on each star.

The trees were planted on Arbor day by members of the American Legion. Many of the mothers of the men in whose memory the trees stand helped place the gold stars on the European sycamores, sweet gums and green oaks that line either side of the parkway.

RANKING WEST POINT CADET

Charles Barrett, Former "Buck" Private, Honor Man of Class of 1922 at Great Academy.

From a "buck private in the rear rank" in 1917 to the highest ranking cadet at West Point is the record of Charles J. Barrett, "honor man" of the 1922 class at the military academy.

Barrett went to France as a member of the 20th division. With 184 other "hand picked" soldiers he was chosen to take the examinations for West Point. He took highest honors.

At the academy, he was made regimental commander, editor of the school magazine and chairman of the board of governors. Despite his other activities, he has found time to do enough studying during his four years to land him at the head of his class.

MARSHAL FOCH HAD THE TIME

Famous French Fighter Aids Blind War Victim Seeking Wounded Soldiers' Institute.

The splendid spirit of Marshal Ferdinand Foch of France, who won the hearts of the American people when he toured this country as the guest of the American Legion last year is illustrated by a story from Paris.

A blind veteran tapped his way along the sidewalk. "Excuse me, am I near the wounded soldiers' institute?" he asked of a passing pedestrian. "I've only been there twice & I am not quite sure of the way." "You are close to it now; let me take you," came the reply.

Arriving at the door of the institute, he said to the janitor: "Kindly take this man to the section for the blind."

"Take him yourself," growled the janitor. "Under the archway on the other side of the courtyard."

The civilian did take the veteran, but on the way out he addressed the janitor again.

"Would you not be a little more obliging to the blind?" he asked gently.

"There are too many and I haven't the time," was the surly response.

"It seems to me that it is your duty to help them," said the other, "I can't find time—and I am Marshal Foch."

Plants 530 Memorial Trees. Memorial trees for 530 veterans who gave their lives in the World war have been planted by the Washington (D. C.) post of the American Legion. As a part of the Memorial day exercises each year, wreaths made up to resemble the Legion's insignia and American flags will be placed on each tree.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE XX.—MISSISSIPPI

THE State of Mississippi derives its name from the river which forms its western boundary.

The word itself comes from the Algonquin miss-iss-e-pi which means "great river." It is popularly supposed to mean "Father of the Waters" but this interpretation is incorrect. The state is also known as the Bayou State from the many bayous which are formed by the shifting river. In this connection it is interesting to note the uneven course of the Mississippi river. Though the extreme length of the state from the Gulf to Tennessee is 330 miles, the western border, due to the winding of the Mississippi river, extends for nearly 600 miles.

The rivers play an important part in this state. They are so numerous and the country so subject to flood that the river bottoms cover nearly one fifth of the area of the entire state.

The early history of Mississippi is linked up with that of Louisiana of which it originally formed a part. Discovered by De Soto in 1540, it was not until La Salle sailed down the river and claimed this territory, which he named in honor of his French king, Louis XIV, that a permanent settlement was established.

In 1763 the territory east of the Mississippi was ceded by the French to the English. For a while the lower portion of the present state was called West Florida. After being captured by the Spanish and later returned to the United States, the Territory of Mississippi was extended to its present size of 48,503 square miles and in 1817 it was admitted as the twenty-fifth state of the Union. At the time of the Mexican war, although caused upon to supply one regiment of volunteers, Mississippi responded with enough men for two. One of these regiments was commanded by Jefferson Davis, who later was the president of the Confederate states.

Since its readmission to the Union in 1870 Mississippi in national elections has been a Democratic state except in 1872, when it voted for Grant.

That bush that moves may conceal a human soul; be sure and make a close observation and see that the cause of the movement is not a human being. A human life may be the toll if you are careless and shoot before you look.

Oh, Splash!

From a Story—"Their eyes met for a long, breathless moment and swam together."

Bethel—Winter Hike

Saturday morning, Troop 1, Bethel, started for their small winter camp 2 miles from Bethel. Snowshoes and skis, packs and boys were much in evidence. The snow was deep and fluffy—full of grief for the Scout who fell by the wayside. It was a full day of Scout craft, outdoor cooking, wonderraft, signalling, first aid and tracking made up the day's program. Everyone was busy. Tests were passed by Roy Jones, Gordan Evans, Kenneth Stanley, Fredland Clark, Edward O'Day and Edwin Morell. Executive Perham accompanied the troop.

Oxford—Hike from O. C. S. Camp to Norway (Endurance Hike)

Not every group of Scouts have the chance to have as their leader a man of the type of Raymond Baker—champion two-mile "Interval-gated" Troop 1 of Oxford is that lucky troop and no wonder they were able to make the 31 miles from home to Oxford County to Norway Camp to Norway. Friday morning the troop left Camp after a most successful work and exercise for Oxford. Every Scout was full of pep on the start and were all "on deck" when Norway was reached. This was no slight endurance hike and was a mighty good deal of muscle and grit.

Camp—Mt. Trask and Mt. Thorn

A great winter camp makes great hiking. Troop 1, Canton, certainly put on a real day of hiking by making Mt. Trask and Mt. Thorn, then home in six hours. A good share of the time was spent at dinner preparation, cooking tests and games. The day was excellent and the view from Mt. Trask alone were well worth the trip. Mt. Thorn was made in forced time, but it took much "steam" before the top was reached. Everyone arrived home safe and sound and ready for supper. Executive Perham accompanied the twenty Scouts on the hike.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Bethel People Know How to Save it

Many Bethel people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Weak kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health—the slightest delay is dangerous. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a remedy that has helped thousands of kidney sufferers. Here is a Bethel citizen's recommendation:

Mrs. A. L. Holt, 7 Elm St., says: "We have used Doan's Kidney Pills in our home and wouldn't be without a box in case of need. I used Doan's when my kidneys were out of order and I had severe spells of backache. Everything seemed a drag to me when going about my housework and I was so dizzy I was afraid to walk across the floor for fear of falling. I could see black specks before my eyes. As soon as I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at Bosserman's Drug Store, I got relief and three boxes cured me. I take pleasure in recommending Doan's."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Holt had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Three Reasons Why

When you figure on shingling a new roof or re-shingling an old one, remember these three facts regarding Ruberoid Strip-shingles.

Nine styles—three colors. Ruberoid Strip-shingles provide an unusually distinctive roof. Their patented form enables you to choose your roof from nine attractive styles. The natural slate-surfacing (red or green) on one face and a substantial grey weather-coating on the other, makes it possible for you to carry out any particular style in either solid colors or in attractive blends of sage green, Indian red, or steel grey—depending upon your fancy.

Less expensive to lay. Ruberoid Strip-shingles save labor and expense when comes to laying. With every strip, four shingles are fastened in place. No chalk lines are necessary, because the shingles are self-spacing.

No expense for upkeep. Ruberoid Strip-shingles are built according to the well-known Ruberoid standard of quality through and through. They are unusually thick and rigid. They always remain flat. Surface and back coatings, saturant and felt, are the best that can be made.

Phone us today for samples and a folder which illustrates in colors the nine different styles which may be obtained.

Looking In on Congress From the House Gallery

FIRST VIEW OF CONGRESS

By CONGRESSMAN GUY U. HARDY

Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

If you came to Washington for the first time and wanted to see congress in action, what would you do and what would you see?

I remember doing that very thing a few years ago—coming as a sort of tourist—and I sat in the gallery and looked on. I can get the view point, I think, of the person looking down as well as that of a member who is on the floor. On that trip a member friend took me in to see the late speaker, Champ Clark. It was in the beginning of the great war. My friend said to Mr. Clark: "Mr. Hardy has come down to Washington to see what we are doing." Mr. Clark replied in his characteristic way: "If he can find out, I hope to God he will let me know." And it is ever so, we are all seeking information about the congress, even the speaker of the house sometimes.

We have got to start from some place, so we might as well assume that you have come to my office in the house office building. Every man who comes to Washington should call on his congressman. The representatives are always glad to see folks from back home; especially so are the members from the West. Some members from nearby states have more callers than they can well take care of.

The house office building is a fine structure, built of marble. It has 410 office and committee rooms in it. Each member is entitled to an office room. If he is chairman of a committee he gets two, sometimes. The building covers a large block of ground with a grass-covered court in the center. There are five floors and a basement. It is a mile walk around the corridors on the four sides of the five floors. Through the Tunnel to the Capitol.

After we have had a little visit I will take you over to the capitol. You have already seen that magnificent building from the outside and will see it many times before you leave the city, so we will go over underground, just to show you the tunnel. This tunnel, which is large, well lighted and spacious, runs for about two blocks. I should think. By the use of it a member can go back and forth in winter or hot summer time and during bad weather without putting his hat on, if he wishes. It isn't used much in good weather. Over on the senate side through a similar tunnel a little electric car system carries the senators back and forth between their office building and the capitol; but the representatives of the people have to walk.

Arriving at the capitol, we will go up in the gallery and look down on the house for a while. You will be disappointed at first by the small number of members present. Every member doesn't sit in his seat all the time every day. If he did, he would not be able to keep up with his office business, and besides that, he would grow nutty. Much of the time is spent in general debate, and much of the debate is very general. So when a definite time has been set for general debate—two hours being the usual time, though it may be 12 hours sometimes—a member not interested can safely get up and go to his office, or visit out in the cloak rooms for a while. During general debate it often happens that not more than 75 or 100 members are in their seats. After a while some one will probably call for a quorum, and then we will see the house fill up with members, as most of them like to answer as many roll calls as possible.

We will sit here in the gallery for a while. This is a historic old room. It has been occupied since 1857, so it has seen much history made. It used to have desks in it, but when the number of representatives was last increased the desks were taken out and plain comfortable rows of seats put in. A member has no special seat. He may sit anywhere he pleases. The Democrats sit on one side and the Republicans on the other.

Speaker Gillett Presiding.

The mace is in its place, so we know that the house is in session. If it were in committee of the whole, the mace would be resting on the floor.

The mace is the symbol of the speaker's authority and it has been doing duty ever since the American congress was organized.

The speaker is in the chair, behind a fine-carved marble desk. Mr. Gillett makes an excellent speaker in this modern day of great freedom in the house. He is fair and nonpartisan. He lets the house run itself, merely acting as its presiding officer. He is seventy-one years of age and has served in the house 20 years. He comes from Springfield, Mass., and is a gentleman of parts. His district thinks pretty well of him, as is indicated by the fact that only 38 votes were cast for all other candidates in the last election; and his wife's relatives think

RADIO

HONEYCOMB COILS IN CONVERTING RECEIVER

Third Regenerative Circuit Arrangement Is by Electrostatic Coupling.

In making a receiving set over into a regenerative circuit, the DeForest honeycomb coils are very well adapted to a circuit arrangement as shown in Figure N. One coil is used as a primary, a second coil as a secondary, and a third as a tickler or plate inductance.

When mounted in a set the secondary is placed in the center and the primary and tickler coils on the outside in such a manner that the coupling between the primary and the secondary can be varied.

The greatest advantage derived from the use of honeycomb coils is the

and a circuit of the general arrangements of that shown in the diagram, any amateur can get excellent results. Any of the standard variometers on the market can be used for the grid and plate variometers "A" and "B."

For those who wish to build a set of this type, a more detailed diagram of connections is shown in Figure P. The antenna series condenser is one of the 21-plate size. An "A" battery potentiometer is shown in the circuit for those who wish to use a soft detector tube.

ELECTRICAL SHOP AND RADIO

Establishment That Does General Electrical Work Has Big Advantage Over Others.

One of the strongest arguments possessed by the electrical store selling radio supplies is the expert service it can offer, says Burton Miller, in a comprehensive article in Radio Merchandising. All sorts and descriptions of apparatus and parts can be put in stock by any store in any line of business and that is exactly what is being done in every city in the country, but the establishment which makes a specialty of doing general electrical work—wiring for light, power, etc., and carrying a stock of electrical goods of every sort—has a distinct advantage over the store which added a radio department to other lines of merchandise entirely different in character.

FIG. O

This ability tends to make this particular type of receiver the closest approach to a universal wave length receiver that can be made.

The regenerative circuit arrangement already shown feed back from the plate circuit to the grid circuit in one of two ways: First, conductively, as in the circuit called the DeForest Ultra-Audion circuit, and second, by inductive coupling as in the circuit which makes use of the tickler coil. There is a third method of coupling—electrostatic, by which the circuits between which the energy is to be transferred are connected by condensers.

In a circuit in which the energy is small and the frequency is high, that is short wave length, the coupling condenser need be of only a very small capacity. The elements of a vacuum tube have a capacity with respect to each other. Some of the most efficient of the short wave regenerative receivers used today depend on the capacity of the short wave regenerative receiver to furnish the necessary electrostatic capacity between the plate and the grid circuits to feed energy from one of these circuits to the other.

Figure O shows a simple single tube regenerative receiver for short wave work that depends on the electrostatic capacity between the elements of the tube for the coupling between the plate and grid circuits. A variometer "A" in the antenna circuit is used for tuning. Another variometer "B" in series with the plate is used for tuning the plate circuit to the same natural period as that of the received signal. This circuit is sometimes called the tuned plate circuit method of regeneration.

There are two tuned oscillating circuits in the receiver. One tuned circuit consists of the variometer "A" with the capacity of the grid to filament of the tube across it. The other tuned circuit consists of the variometer "B" with the capacity of the plate to filament across it. These two circuits are in turn electrostatically coupled to each other by the capacity between the grid and the plate.

A receiver of the type shown in Figure O is very efficient because there are no untuned circuits. In addition the energy sent back from the plate circuit to the grid circuit compensates for the losses in the circuits. This results in very high amplification.

Though the adjustment of a set of this type is rather critical, especially the amount of induction in the plate circuit, two knobs are necessary to control the tuning and the amount of regeneration. With a good antenna etc., and carrying a stock of electrical goods of every sort—has a distinct advantage over the store which added a radio department to other lines of merchandise entirely different in character.

It is virtually important, however, that the availability of this expert service be broadcast to the field it is desired to reach. Publicity is the only thing that will do it. The public must be told. Not once, but repeatedly, and in every possible way.

It is not enough to have a card in the display window announcing: "Our electrical experts will be glad to give you any information or assistance in installing or operating your radio outfit." Or to run an occasional small ad in the local newspapers. Or to have a car card in the local street cars. Or to distribute small folders through the mails to a local list.

All of these methods are good—if you keep persistently at it! There is no single quality of advertising as absolutely essential as persistence. If you do not concede this you are simply ignoring the experience of all successful advertisers of all time.

If the radio department is to be built up and made a substantial part of your store's business it is essential that the public be told where it can find this superior service, tested apparatus and expert counsel.

TIPS TO THE RADIOIST

A talk given recently at Schenectady by Dr. Marconi was enjoyed by a crowd of 3,000 persons who had assembled in Washington park, Albany, for the purpose.

On the Pacific coast preference in time for broadcasting is to be given to the stations having the greatest efficiency and therefore able to serve the greatest number of people.

Rubber is very useful material in radio work. You will find rubber stoppers to bottles make excellent knobs or tips to electrodes, adjusting rods, etc., and that black or sheet rubber is very useful as an insulator in many places; but if you have ever tried to cut rubber with a knife you will know how hard it is to make a neat, smooth, straight cut. But if you use a sharp knife and keep the rubber wet with cold water, or cut it under water, you will find that it cuts like cheese.

A radio university, placing higher education within the reach of all, is now considered but a matter of time. The future educational possibilities of radio seem to be limited only by the co-operation of the people.

DAIRY AND POULTRY PRODUCTS.

Butter Market continued firm on the butter scores and about steady on the cheese and ghee. Prices were advanced a full cent on practically all scores during the week past. Pine butter continues short and in good demand. Several of the large buyers are using their storage goods and therefore are temporarily off the market. Trading has been rather quiet, but only anything under 50¢. Western Extra 45¢, Northern Extra assorted sizes spruce tubs 45¢-46¢. Cheese prices advanced sharply the first of the week and the market at present rules firm. Trading has been rather quiet as buyers are working very conservatively, only taking a few pieces at a time.

Fancy fresh New York State Twins 23¢-24¢. Single Daisies 23¢-24¢. Young Americans 23¢-24¢. Eggs continue firm at higher prices with fine quality fresh very short and in good demand. Medium and ordinary grades also advanced, but are not quite so high. Quail eggs 23¢-24¢, 30¢, first 40¢-45¢. Extra farts 47¢-52¢. Extra farts 53¢-58¢, traders and dairies slow, 23¢-24¢. April storage farts selling 29-30¢, mostly 30¢, some well known marks up well 43¢-50¢, with fancy brown up to 50¢. Fresh eggs very quick, very firm on fowl, which are short and wanted, some buyers taking heavy chickens on account of shortage of fowl. Fowl 14¢-16¢, lbs. av. 23-24¢; chicken (3-1/2 lbs. av.) 23-31¢, with 5 lbs. chickens up to 34¢.

Her brother, Harry Normand of Boston, Mass., whom she believed dead many years recently called on Mrs. Luther Packard of South River road, Auburn, Me. It was their first meeting for more than 20 years. They were born in Liverpool, Eng., and Mrs. Packard came to the United States when her brother was 7 years old. She had not seen him since that time.

The sixth annual meeting of the National Milk Producers' Federation will be held in Springfield, Mass., Nov. 9 and 10, it was announced by Charles W. Holman, executive secretary, following the meeting of the executive committee recently in Chicago. Mr. Holman stated that the Springfield meeting promises to be the banner meeting in the history of the federation.

Miss Ethel M. Johnson, assistant commissioner of labor and industries and other speakers at a hearing on the minimum wage law at the State House, Boston, advocated making the minimum wage mandatory. Miss Johnson opened the speaking in support of a draft of a compulsory minimum wage bill prepared by the commission. This bill proposes a fine for violation of the law.

Five generations now living and all descended from John Hancock, first signer of the declaration of independence, in the proud boast of the Richards family of Weymouth, Mass.

Mrs. Lucy Richards the oldest member of the group, is well on the way to her 94th birthday. She was born in Colchester, Jan. 26, 1829, the daughter of Capt. Timothy Hancock, who served in the revolutionary war.

The first vessel ever to fly the flag of Egypt in Boston harbor is the steamship Carlton. The red flag of Egypt, with three crescents and a white star in each crescent, is flying at the vessel's stern. The Carlton came from Port Talbot, Wales, having accepted a charter to move 600 tons of Welsh steam coal to Boston. It is reported to be one of the first vessels under Egyptian register ever to visit the United States.

Paul, 18-months-old son of Romeo Lavillier of Lewiston, Me., pulled over a large can of varnish that had been left on a low shelf, and the contents completely covered him. Held by the sticky mass, he was as helpless as a fly caught in "tanglefoot" until his mother came in answer to his screams. It was necessary to cut the clothing from the child's body. At first it was feared the eyesight had been affected, but doctors say he will be all right again.

THE J. E. JONES LETTER

THE GROWTH OF EXECUTIVE POWER

The early presidents of the United States were given limited powers. Very few of them disregarded the narrow construction of their authority and struck out boldly as leaders. Between Jackson and Lincoln there was a period of presidential decline; and after Lincoln there were several presidents whose names are minus of thrills.

No matter what has been the theory regarding the non-interference of the Executive with the legislative branch of the Government, the fact remains that Lincoln, Roosevelt and Wilson made their names "household words" because they grasped the reins of leadership and drove the vehicle of State in the direction they wanted it to go.

In the closing days of the present Congress President Harding upset the expressed conviction of a large majority of its members by vetoing the soldiers' bonus bill. No one complained that this was "usurpation" of power as the common viewpoint would have been before the Roosevelt regime. A still more pointed illustration of the growth of "executive power" is shown in the new tariff law. There are four thousand items in the law, and only one of them is beyond the President's power of alteration. Duties are now fixed both as to their rates and the method of assessment under the American valuation.

Ever since the passage of the McKinley law there has been a demand for a more elastic method of operating tariffs. Commissions and Boards have been formed, but they did not last because Congress was unwilling to surrender its rights in framing tariff bills. The tariff schedules usually existed as long as the party making them continued in office.

It has happened that a majority of the same members of Congress who described "Executive interference" to defeat "Wilsonian," have for the first time in American history placed the tariff schedules entirely in the hands of the President. It was an expediency on the part of Congress. When it came to a choice between "commissions," "boards," or the alternative of greater "executive power," the latter method was quite naturally chosen.

It is marked has the tendency been towards the extension of executive power in the Federal government that but little attention has been aroused by the constant transfer of legislative functions to the President. The reason is plain enough. The people have demanded leaders; and whenever there has been a strike, or even a prize fight, the popular clamor has been that the President should interfere. A positive, aggressive man in the White House appeals to popular favor. This has been made evident so often in recent years as it has grown to be regarded as perfectly right and proper that the executive power should be increased whenever new tasks of Government are undertaken.

WASHINGTON'S BUILDING BOOM

Seven years ago Washington had a population of about 250,000 people. This has increased to more than 400,000. There was a big exodus following the signing of the Armistice, but when the war-workers left their places were taken by people who have become permanent residents of the Capital. Apartment houses and residences that will house thousands of people are now springing up everywhere in the city, and there is a veritable building boom. One contractor said the other day: "There are 4,000 carpenters in Washington and yet they are scarce that I can't get one of them." Bricklayers are getting $11 a day and wages of other mechanics are proportionately high. While all this building is going on rents remain at the old wartime peak. But there is a rush to get most of the new buildings done before the fast of the year. After that the Rent Board, which is trying to protect the residents of the Capital against extortionate rentals, may find that the element of competition due to a visible supply of places in which to live will help to reduce the cost of living.

mostly made up of amended laws, or new shapes for old laws.

"TALKING POLITICS"

One might suppose that Washington would welcome a political moratorium inasmuch as Congress has laid aside its work in order that its members may engage in the great national debates incident to the Fall elections. Not so, however! The elections this Fall will doubtless have a strong bearing on the presidential conditions two years hence. A half dozen Democrats are seeking the post of active leader for their party. Administration supporters are trying to clear away the obstructions being placed in the path of President Harding by those who call themselves the new progressives, and who are aided in their opposition to the present Administration by the American Federation of Labor and other dissatisfied organizations.

Whole most of those who are "talking politics" in Washington are certain that the Administration is very popular throughout the country, they have not such short memories as to forget how President Taft started his political decline during the Congressional elections two years after he assumed office. "Of course that won't happen again," you hear them say. But on the other hand, one always finds croakers to mock the prophets.

Inquiring patrons at postoffice windows have frequently "stumped" the postmaster—but not for long, because in every office there is a little black book that furnishes a ready answer to every question. But postal laws are like human nature inasmuch as they are subject to amendment. There are now 738 of these changes, and in consequence a new book is being compiled.

It will include many acts passed by Congress during the last ten years.

PERSHING TO WRITE MEMOIRS

It has been announced that General Pershing will join the increasing throng of memoir-writers, and a history of his achievements will eventually find its way into public print. General Pershing's official duties are rather light, and no doubt the gallant leader of the American forces in the late war chafes under the restraints of too much social life in Washington. A weathered warrior like Pershing finds it next to impossible to enthuse over afternoon "teas."
